The Anti-Simmons Reformers in the Board are Left Out of Important Committees—They Express Indignation, and Mr. Sprague Refuses to Accept his Appointment-Report on the Examination Evil. Mr. J. Edward Simmous announced his standing committees of the Board of Educa-

on at yesterday's meeting. He thereby created a sensation. There was something of a surprise expected, but scarcely anybody imagined that the President, who had been elected the week t-fore by only one bar: Tote, would go to the excreme point of almost totally moring the half of the Board opposed to him. The committees constitute one of the most imtant pieces of the legislative machinery of the school system, and the success of the department depends largely upon the groups of Commissioners who are in immediate superton of the various interests of the department for which the people pay more money than for any other in the city Government. So great was the indignation felt by the igreform Commissioners that some of them whom President Simmons did appoint to places on the committees declared, after the meeting was over, that they would decline to serve. One of them took this course immedistely after the appointments were read. Mr. Simmons didn't seem surprised, and a close observer could see on his lips something of a of rejoicing as this opportunity was given him of putting another one of his supporters in place. The Commissioner who thus instantly resigned was Henry L. Sprague. He is one of the most active members, and since his appointment has been intensely interested to everything tending to improve the physical purely educational condition of the department. With Commissioner Webb, he has been the leader of the reform party. Last year he was Chairman of the Executive Commiton the Nautical School. This was not an especially important body, but President Simmons evidently considered it too important for Mr. Sprague, and yesterday he Commissioner Devoe the Chairman, and left Mr. Sprague off altogether. Mr. Devoe is s Simmons supporter out and out. The chief ound, however, which President Simmons in flieted upon Mr. Sprague lay in appointing him on the Committee on By-laws under the Chair manship of Commissioner Schmitt. It was from this committee that Mr. Sprague at once announced his resignation. He said he thought all the members would understand his reasons. And they did, and they let him resign for many of them, if they had been put on this committee, said they would have resigned too. nmissioner Webb got up in meeting and said so. The secret of this is that Mr. Sprague will not sit on any committee of which Mr. Schmitt is Chairman, and his reason for that is that Mr. Sprague considers Mr. Schmitt a traitor to the cause of reform, and doesn' besitate to say so. Nor do other mem-bers refrain from saying hard things of Mr. Schmitt. That gentleman was pervous resterday, and seemed cut at the cold treatment some of his old-time associates gave him. He was one of the original opponents of President Simmons, and worked, or was presumed to be working, against his reflection the election last week Mr. Schmitt spoke of Mr. Simmons in decidedly vigorous language, and swore that he never would vote for him. All the same he did, and it was thus almost entirely by him that the reformers were beaten in their endeavor to make Mr. Cole the head of the Board. Mr. Sprague said after yesterday's adjournment that he considered it an insult to be put on a committee with Mr. Schmitt, and a group of reformers about him said the same thing out loud so that the subject of their re marks might have heard them. But he had was announced.

The new Finance Committee has four of the eld régime and only one of the anti-Simmons party. The Committee on Teachers, which is one of the most important, is now thoroughly an old regime body. Mrs. Agnew, who was one of its most valuable members last year, is left off, and Commissioner Hunt, the handsomest man in the Board and a new appointes who went back on what was expected of him and voted for Simmons, goes on instead. Commissloner Cole, who was last year Chairman of the Committee on Buildings, an extremely influental committee is dropped, and Mr. Devoe put on in his place. Devoe is a Simmons man, of course, and Cole was the candidate opposing simmons. All the six other members are anti-reformers with the exception of Mr. Kuhne, bome more packing was done in the case of the Committee on Course of Study and School Books. Miss Dodge was on this group last was capacily credited with doing in Committee on Course of Study and School Books. Miss Dodge was on this group last year, and was generally credited with doing splendid work, but she is left off, and the committee, with the exception of Mr. Peaslee, will represent the antiquated ideas of the old régime. Another case of snubbing is shown by President Simmons in removing his antagonist. Commissioner Wobb, from the Chairmanship of the Committee on School Furnitue, and putting in his place the anti-progressive Commissioner Purdy. Miss Dodge, who was on this committee last year, is also dropped. So is that other anti-Simmons member, Mr. O'Brien. The President also manages to get even with Mrs. Agnew once more by taking her from the Normal College Committee and making that group entirely under the Thomas Hunter control, with the possible exception of Mrs. Fow-ell. And upon the Boys' College Committee there is placed only one representative of the new ideas of education, Mr. Kulne. The other nine members are known to be Simmons men with the possible exception of Mr. Sanger. Last year Miss Dodge was on the Evening Schools Committee, but her opposition to Mr. Simmons and Superintendent Jasper has cost her the honor of serving there again.

So it goes. The reformers have been removed from whatever important places they held last year. To make things look even places have been given them on some committees, but they are the committees whose business is comparatively trivial. Take the Committee on the Annual Report, for example. This body cannot affect things materially, and perhaps for this cause it consists of four Reformers and only one Simmons man. The Webb-Sprague party is angry and accuses President simmons of not even decently recognizing the minority. And it isn't so much of a minority after all, for the reformers count nine on most questions and ten in some contests, as against the Simmons eleven.

May and June. The committee has held its meetings in secret, and so far nothing has been published of their doings. The report presented vesterday is one of many to come. The committee propose plans, which, if adopted will reconstitute the committee propose plans, which, if webb reports that they have hid seventeen meetings, have heard testimony from Superintendent Jasper and his assistance and from teachers. Members of the committee visited many schools, and by correspondance the investigation was extended to other sties. The present report deals with the examination evil. It says:

It says:

The present system of examination and parking is not provided for or required by any statuts of the State, and the only foundation or excuse for it is contained in ecction 36 of the by laws and regulations of the Board With the mearre provisions of this by law for abasis, the existing system has been built up and developed by the Uity Superintendent and his predecessors in once. To characterize it in moderation, warrants the steement that it is bad, destrimental to the best methods ofteduces tion, and is in fact the cause of much that is now infering and impairing the usefulness of our public schools.

To chait it is bad, destinential to the near methods of edges in the chait is bad, destinential to the near methods of edges in a year, and the cause of much that is now injuring and impairing the usefulness of our public schools. The committee speaks of one assistant superintendent who had to examine 1.500 classes in a year, and thus averaged not more final lifteen minutes to each, and says there are schools where the examination fever havresulted in the driving of some children to examinations in their studies once a week from the first day of October to the first day of June. The report ends with a series of recommendations, of which the chief points are that before June 1, 1889, all teachers except principals shall be classified in two grades, one the "maximum" the other the "standard." This classification is to be made by the Committee on Teachers. If it is adopted the change will affect at once over 3.000 men and women now holding the offices of teachers in the schools, and will after the conditions of all teachers in time to come who are now preparing in the Normal School or elsawhere.

The new rules provide that classes taught by teachers in the "maximum grade" shall not be subjected to the present system of examination. But a principal who thinks that the instruction or discipline of any particular teacher is imperfect may so report, and then the Superintendent is to investigate. If necessary, help and advice are to be given the teacher, or she may be transferred to the "standard" grade. The classes of teachers in the fine principal and from the City Superintendent of work done, methods employed, and results accomplished. This provision is one that will affect most beneficially the entire system, and is considered one of the wisest changes that the committee suggests.

Arrangements are made for the promotion annually, beginning in 1890, of teachers from their principal so the different schools in eoverlent soft, and supervision from the Superintendent s

Miss Roosevelt Will Wed Baron Zedlitz

Baron Clement Zedlitz, an officer in the German army, who served under Emperor William II., is shortly to marry Miss Cornelia riage he appeared before Judge O'Brien in the Special Term of the Supreme Court yesterday The Baron is about 30 years old and of fair complexion. Miss Roosevelt is about 19 years old, and is a daughter of the late Charles G. Roosevelt, who died in 1883. Her mother and guardian is Cornelia L. Roosevelt, Miss Roosevelt accepted the offer of marriage made by the Baron on condition that before the ceremony est accepted the olier of marriage made by the Baron on condition that before the ceremony was performed he should enter into a contract with her and with certain trustees renouncing any right to her property which he might acquire as her husband. It was the intention of the pair to reside in Germany, and the object of proceedings before Judge O'Brien was to obtain the sanction of the Court to the marriage pursuant to the ante-nuptial agreement.

In April. 1887, Miss Roosevelt's guardians, Aifred and William E. Roosevelt, held for her benefit $289.348.54. Her estate also includes a one-sixth interest in an estate the income of which amounts to $100.000. Her not annual income is about $18,000. The German law would ordinarily entitle the Baron to his bride's personalty after marriage, and this action in chancery is brought for her protection. George H. Yeaman and ex-Judge Charles A. Peabody appeared for Mrs. Roosevelt: Mossrs, Jones and Roosevelt for the Baron.

The Baron gave testimony as to his position in the German army, and swore that he was willing to enter into the ante-nuptial agreement. Testimony was also given by Mr. Yeaman, Frederick Roosevelt, and Horace C. Duval as to Miss Roosevelt's education and as to her thorough understanding of the step she was about to take. They also declared that for a person occupying her position in society $12,000 was a reasonable sum to be expended for her

In order to maintain the position which she is about to assume in German society, Miss Roosevelt should receive the entire net income of $18,000.

Further testimony was to the effect that the young lady's father had an income of about $45,000, of which he spent $25,000 in providing for his family. It was also said that Miss Roosevelt was resolved to retain the greater portion of her estate in trust for her own benefit.

Judge O'Brien signed the findings upon the testimony.

THE ALVA FITTING FOR A CRUISE.

A Report that Mr. Vanderbilt's Tacht was to be Sold to Hippolyte Laughed At.

The Haytian Minister, Stephen Preston laughed yesterday when his attention was called to the report from Philadelphia. which stated that the Vanderbilt steam yacht Alva was being got ready for sea preparatory to her sale to Hippolyte, the leader of the northern faction in Hayti. Mr. Preston said:

"The north has no need for such a fine boat, Cheap iron steamers will do well enough for them. The Madrid was bought for $22,000 by Hippolyte's agents, and he will have to pay them $150,000 for her with her armament on them $150,000 for her with her armanent of board. Oh no, the Alva is not for Hippolyte, for his agents can make more money out of him by selling him old, cheap boats at a high price. Even Legitime would not care to buy as fine a boat as the Alva. We have other uses for our money. As for myself, if I buy a boat I shall buy it openly, and ilt it out in the same fashion.

A friend of Mr. Wm. K. Vanderbilt said the report was nonsense and that the yacht was being put in shape for a pleasure trip in the Mediterranean. Mediterranean.

Tragle Fate of the Rodgerson Family. HARRISBURG, Jan. 15 .- " I am the last surviving member of a family of nine," said George W. Rodgerson of Beaver. "My brother, John L. Rodgerson, the contractor, who was killed in the cyclone at Pittsburgh last week, was the eighth one of the family to die a vicient death. A few years ago my father was killed by falling from a derrick. Some time afterward a chimney toppled over as my mother was passing by it, and she was crushed to death in the ruins. There were then seven of us left, all brothers. One of my brothers was killed by a fail of iron in a foundry where he was employed. A fall of stone in a quarry killed another brother. Another was drowned in a well. A fourth was caught by his clothing on a swifity revolving shaft and was battered to death as the shaft whirled him round. A fifth brother was killed in a railroad accident, and now poor John has met his fate in the cyclone at littsburgh. I haven't the least doubt that my death will also be a violent one, and I desire that it should be, strange as that declaration may seem." from a derrick. Some time afterward a chim-

Others were for the abolition of labor for bakers on Sunday: requiring employers to give thirty days' notice of reduction of wares; calling for the expenditure of an appropriation in removing silt from the hadron of the state canals; defining the liability of employers to employees in cases of accidents, and urging legislation to trohibit gambling and "corners" in wheat and the necessaries of life. CURIOUS FEATURES OF A MURDER TRIAL A REMARKABLE PROTEST. A Convict Fined for Refusing to Testify Recorder Smythe May be Called,

Alexander Sweeney was taken to Judge Gildersleeve's court room yesterday for the third day of his second trial for aiding Peter Smith, since hanged, to kill Watchman John Hannon, Sweeney didn't fire the shot, but Smith did, and the prosecution hold that it can be proved that if Sweeney had murder in his heart he ought to follow Smith to the gallows. Yesterday's proceedings were a struggle by the District Attorneys to get before the jury Hannon's dying declaration that he had had the wrangle with Sweeney in a barroom a few hours before he was shot. Police Captain Byan. Sergeant Martins, and Policeman Michael Far ley, who arrested Sweeney and Smith, testified that when Sweeney was arrested he denied that when Sweeney was arrested be denied that he was in the watchman's shanty in the dumps at the foot of East Thirty-eighth street when Hannon was shot. Capt. Ryan testified that when he took Sweeney to Hannon's bed-side in Believue Hospital Hannon said he had been struck in the head by Smith, but nothing was said about Sweeney.

Thomas Fay, a tall, smooth-faced young man, who had been brought to New York from the Kings county, penitentiary, was called to the witness stand by the prosecution. Fay has sixteen months to serve on a sentence of five years for burglary committed in Brooklyn. He was called by Mr. Dos Passos to testify to a vrangle between Sweeney and Hannon in a saloon not far from the Street Cleaning Department dump. Court Crier Oakford handed a Bible to, Fay, who looked on it disdainfully ad said:

nartment dumn. Court Crier Oakford handed a Bible to Fay, who looked on it disdainfully and said:

'I refuse to be sworn."

Re declined to say why he refused, but said that he had friends in New York and did not want to be "paraded publicly and made a show of." It is believed, however, that Fay is unter an assumed name.

"I move that he be committed for contempt of court," said Mr. Dos Passos.

"Fay is committed now," said Judge Gildersleev, "I will, however, fine the prisoner $250, one day for $1. The order will be filed in Kings county, and after Fay's sentence has excired he will be arrested and brought to New York teserve out the fine." He was taken back to the Fings county pentitentiary.

Mrs. Late Hannon, mother of the murdered man, tenified that Hannon told her in the hospital that Smith and Sweeney stood side by side when Smith shot him. Mrs. Hannon's testimeny on a former trial bore more strongly against tweeney, but that part was ruled out, as it was not legally a dying declaration.

Mary McCann, Hannon's sister, tostified that Hannon taid to her in the hospital. "Peter Smith shed my blood and Aleck Sweeney drank it."

The question then arose as to how to get be-

Smith shed my blood and Aleck Sweeney drank it."

The question then are se as to how to get before the jtry the testimeny of a witness named Curry, who testified at the trial of Smith and who died astiweek. Mr. Dos Passos asked to have former Assistant District Attorney A. H. Purdy, whe tried Smith, called to the witness stand. Mr. Purdy wasn't around. Then Mr. Dos Passos notified the Court that he might have to eat Recorder Smyth to the witness stand to-day to testify from his notes taken at the trial of Smith. The stonegrapher who took notes of the trial of Smith was the late Gerald McRenna, and no one is permitted to decipher his notes and testify from them.

THE SUGAL REFINERS' SIDE OF IT. Mr. Havemerer Thinks that Judge Bar-

A Sun reporter yesterday asked Mr. Henry

O. Havemeyer of the so-called Sugar Trust. what he thought of the recent decision of Judge Barrett dissolving the charter of the North River Sugar Refining Company, because the company joined the organization of the other sugar refining companies. Mr. Havemeyer thought a moment and said:
"I haven't said anything on this subject before, but I will say this now. The parties to the agreement in question were advised by counsel, who are considered to be among the counses, who are considered to be among the ablest lawyers in the country, that every provision of that agreement was legal. This view was confirmed by Mr. James C. Carter in his very exhaustive argument before Judge Barrett, and by a long article on the legality of trusts by Prof. Dwight in the Popular Science Quarterly for December. I think, without any pretence to legal acumen, that Judge Barrett's decision is bad law. We have taken the case, of course, to the Court of Appeals, and I believe that the Court of Appeals will reverse Judge Barrett's decision.

"But whether the agreement is a legal one or not, the operation of our business has shown an advantage to the consumer of sugar. The price of sugar last year was one cent a pound less than the average price for the ten preceding years. The advance in the price of refined sugar last year and that of the year preceding was due to the advance in the cost of raw sugars, the bonded value of raw sugars having advanced during the year 1888 nearly 38's per cent.

Arrival Here of Two Englishmen Who Want to Know Why Things Went to Smash. J. J. Powell and P. Robinson of London arrived on the Gallia yesterday. Their coming caused a stir on the street, where it was reported that they had crossed the water to investigate the big electric sugar collapse in the interest of certain English shareholders who had got badly caught in the smash-up of the company. Mr. Powell went to the Metropolicompany. Mr. Powell went to the Metropolitan Hotel. He declined to say exactly whom he represented, but told reporters that he was "going to spend the next fortnight in finding out why things had gone to smash so suddenly." He will be aided in his investigation by Mr. P. Robinson.

Secretary Robertson of the wrecked company said at the office, 69 Wall street, that he hadn't heard of the arrival of the Englishmen, and he added that it couldn't be true that they had come with the object attributed to them.

"I certainly haven't seen them." he said, "and they won't see me either. Why, the English shareholders took so little interest in the situation that when I cabled to them to take action they wouldn't discuss the cablegram even, let alone investigate."

Oll and Gas Struck in Greenwood.

ANDOVER, N. Y., Jan. 16.-The test well which was drilled in the town of Greenwood, near this village, was torpedeed on Monday with thirty quarts of nitro-glycerine. To-day the well was cleaned out, and when the tools the weil was cleaned out, and when the tools were pulled out the oil flowed and shot over the top of the derrick. This well is good for ten barrels of oil per day, and the oil is of a superior quality. Oil men are here from all parts of the country, and appearances indicate that a spiendid field will be opened up. The gas continues to flow with great force, and tipe is now here to be used in conveying it to this village for fuel and light. The protest is against the price and the proceeding. It states that the license was given them because they had lost their own ground by reason of heavy assessments for street openings that churches are now exempt from by law; that the charities of the church are such as to relieve the Department of Charities and Correction of expenditures more than enough to make a reasonable ground rent, and that the establishment of the church enhanced the value of property in the neighborhood.

The paper grows interesting when it ceases to be diplomatic, and urges that the Episconal Church of the Redeemer is being discriminated against. Extracts that are Intended to support this point follow:

If the city is in need of its real estate, how is it that a certain, liebrew Society continues to hold, in direct violation of its heese, a large part of the city property in Seventy seventh street between Lexingon avenue and Third avenue, upon which are erected buildings which are used for purposes quite foreign to any charitable or benevolent object.

From Kansas to New York in a Wagon.

WARSAW, Jan. 16 .- John Briggs of Kansas prefers wintering in the blizzards of the Empire prefers wintering in the blizzards of the Empire State to those of his own. In October last he started for Silver Springs, New York, with a span of mules hitched to a canvas-covered wagon, which contained his wife, two children, and a dog. The wagon was fully equipped with bedding, cook stove, and entables. Taking the overland route, he journeyed eleven weeks and two days, travelling in that time some 2,000 miles. He passed through Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, striking into this State near Jamestown. They claim to have enjoyed the journey hugely.

A REMARKABLE PROTEST.

CITT OFFICIALS ACCURED OF DENOMINATIONAL DISCRIPTIONATION.

The Rector and Vestrymen of the Church of the Redeemer Say They Won't Pay the City's Price for a Site or he Eviced to Accommodate Roman Catholies.

Mayor Grant and Alderman Storm were the new faces in the Sinking Fund Commission at the first meeting of the year yesterday.
After a report from Compitted Myers and Commissioner Smith against the application of the New York Hydraulic Power Company to lay mains in the streets was concurred in, and a communication from Simon Stevens on deels proporty read, a long protest from the rector, wardens, and vestrymen of the Church of the Redeemer was read. The church from Redeemer was read. The church from the Redeemer was read. The church property at Eighty-first street and Park avenue is owned by the city, and has been occupied under a license from the Common Council. Their attempt to build answ two years are led to an invostigation of the matter, and the city officials are in favor of getting paid for the ground.

The protest is against the price and the proceeding. It states that the license was given thom because they had lost their own ground by reason of heavy assessments for spread openings that churchities of the church are such as to relieve the Department of Charlites and Corroction of expenditures more than enough to make a reasonable ground rent, and that the establishment of the church are to be diplopinatic, and urges that the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer is being discriminated against. Extracts that are intended to support this point follow:

If the city is in need of the project year, to be forced to purpose quile foreign to any charitable or benevolen closet.

If it is a hardship when of the city property in beyoning serven in street between Lesting on avenue and

The most reasonable view to take of to-day's stock market is that it was the outcome of the collapse of the wheat speculation in Chicago. There are a good many indications that some of the Chicago operators have been overtrad-ing, and have been compelled by the sharp decline in wheat to market their speculative holdings of securities. Liquidation from that source was most evident in Cotton Oil Trusts. and the theory of the street was that certain of the insiders in that speculative concern took advantage of the misfortune of their Chicago associates to make a turn upon the short side of the market. The liquidation was also pro-

These two movements and a drive by the trading element against Lackawanna and Missouri Pacific unsettled the entire list. The selling of Lackawanna was based upon reports that the company has begun to cut rates. These reports probably have their foundation in the attitude of the company toward its competitors. The Lackawanna Company is very fond of assuming a superior tone toward the other Trunk lines, but it is doubtful if the best other Trunk lines, but it is doubtful if the best interests of the company are always promoted by its independent policy. All of the coal stocks were heavy, and with a cortain amount of reason, as the coal trade is becoming more unsettled every day owing to the large production and the absence of an adequate demand because of the protracted unseasonable weather. It begins to look as if the question whether any compact can be made that will prove superior to the laws of supply and demand would be tested again.

The professional element took advantage of the untoward circumstances mentioned to the market a vigorous hammering, but

At the annual meeting of the New York, Ontarlo and Western Railroad Company, held today, the directors who served last year were reclected except that Mr. Samuel Barton was chosen in place of Mr. J. The surplus for the year ending Sept. 30 was $50,-262. The Board organized by redicting the officers who served last year.

Wednesday, Jan. 16.—Flour and Meal.—The market continues duil and prices favor buyers but there is rather less pressure to seil, owing to the belief that prices of grain have about touched bottom.

Corrons—Futures opened without decided change maintaining values pretty steadily till after the second call, when the advance of yesterday was fully lost. The bears attacked the market under cover of a renor that planters had united to conceal the quantity of cotton yet to come forward, the inference being that therefore the quantity must be large.
